

Foodways Collaborative RFP

Envisioning better options for our communities

WHAT IS THE FOODWAYS COLLABORATIVE?

The San Francisco-Marín Food Bank will collaborate with community partners and stakeholders to collect participant feedback through surveys and interviews. Community food preferences will help inform SFMFB menus.

WHY IS THE FOOD BANK DOING THIS?

The Food Bank is seeking to utilize the knowledge and relationships that organizations have with their community to gather feedback on what foods they find most culturally relevant. This RFP is a portal for organizations who have the interest and capacity to perform compensated surveying of their communities to help achieve this mission.

HOW WILL IT WORK?

Organizations can apply through the RFP to express their interest in joining the collective. Selections to join the collaborative will be based on creating a well-rounded group of organizations representing a variety of cultural communities across San Francisco and Marin. There are different levels of participation available in the collaborative and compensation awards will be according to level of participation.

Learn more at: link

RFP due Thursday October 12th

