

Advocate for Food Policy Change

The San Francisco-Marín Food Bank is looking for community members to join our Food Policy Advocacy Coalition

You have the power to make policy changes in your community!

Through this coalition, we are shifting power from the Food Bank to the people we serve by ensuring their voices are part of the decision-making process of advancing policy campaigns that impact their lives and communities.

Why Join?

- Amplify Your Voice: Your ideas, concerns, and hopes for your community will shape food policy decisions.
- Connect with Your Community: Get to know your fellow community members who share a deep passion for their neighborhoods.
- Drive Change: Have a direct impact on local food policies and ensure they work for your community.
- Learn and Grow: Develop skills and knowledge in advocacy, leadership, and policy-making.

The San Francisco-Marín Food Bank will compensate individuals $100 per month. We will also provide resources such as resume help, technology access, and counseling if desired.

- Time commitment: 2 to 4 hours per month for 18 months
- Location: TBD, Hybrid
- Requirements: Over 18

Oral English language skills required—written and reading skills can be developed in the program. If you are unable to join, please share this flyer with those that qualify.

If interested or need more information, contact Alex, Community Organizer:
araffanti@sfmfoodbank.org
415-740-0453

Recruitment and applications will begin in January